

Twickenham

in south-west London

Twickenham is in the London borough of Richmond-upon-Thames. It is famous as the home of Rugby Union and has plenty of shops, bars and restaurants in the town centre. Twickenham, like all of London, has excellent public transport links to the centre of the city.

Twickenham is an affluent, safe suburb in the south-west of London.

It is a fashionable and prestigious "London Village" by the river Thames, in the borough of Richmond upon Thames.

Twickenham Stadium is the home of rugby.

Excellent transport links

- LHR 25-40 minutes
- Twickenham station

Twickenham is in transport Zone 5.

Twickenham to central London

20 minutes by direct train.
All-day zone 1-6 ticket £13.
Weekly ticket £70.
Weekly all-London bus-only ticket £25.

Twickenham to Heathrow Airport

25 minutes by taxi, about £60.
45 minutes by Underground/ bus, £8.

Richmond-upon-Thames is one of the most desirable areas in England.

The area has the two largest royal parks in London with wild deer roaming freely.

It is a relaxing and calming area with good variety of things to see and do locally and places just to chill out.